TEETH

You are fairly complete when you are born, except for teeth. You have to wait for them. And they are no fun when they are coming.

Then you have hardly got accustomed to your teeth when it is time for them to be replaced by a whole new set. Some are obstinate about coming out and have to be pulled. There is little fun in that, either.

So at last you have a full set of permanent teeth and should be able to assume your troubles are ended. Not so. They ache. They have to be filled. Before they can be filled they have to be drilled by a kindly dentist who says, "This is going to hurt a little." His idea of little isn't yours.

Teeth have to be brushed. Things get between them and etiquette frowns on toothpicks that could bring comfort. The nerves in the teeth begin to die, but not all the way. So they have to be put out of their misery. It is not a painless death. And, oh yes, teeth have to be straightened with braces that do not make for beauty.

Considering the amount of work that has been done on your teeth you might imagine there was no space left for a new filling. But the dentist can always find one. And the fillings that are in fall out at inconvenient times.

Having passed through all the preliminary stages you are at last ready for extractions. And bridge work. And plates. And whole sets of false teeth. Are you rheumatic? Does it hurt you when you "raise your arm like that?" Your teeth instantly come under suspicion.

Suppose that arms and legs, skulls and torsos, tibias, fibulas, and femurs, and other parts of the human body were as unreliable as teeth; and as frequently subject to breakdowns. Suppose, like teeth, they had to be replaced, filled, bridged and extracted. What a pickle we would be in.

ADMINISTRATION

President

OF THE UNIVERSITY

HARRY CLIFTON BYRD

Dr. Byrd was born in Crisfield, Maryland, on February 12, 1889. He attended Crisfield High School and the Maryland Agricultural College, where he received his degree in 1908.

Besides his outstanding scholastic attainments, he achieved distinction in football, track, and baseball during his student days. In 1912, he became athletic coach and instructor in English and history at his alma mater.

During World War I, he organized and directed the Students Training Corps at College Park. At the close of the war he was made assistant to Dr. A. F. Woods, President of the University. He remained in that position when Dr. Woods was succeeded by Dr. Raymond Pearson. When Dr. Pearson resigned in 1936, Dr. Byrd was chosen to succeed him.

Governor

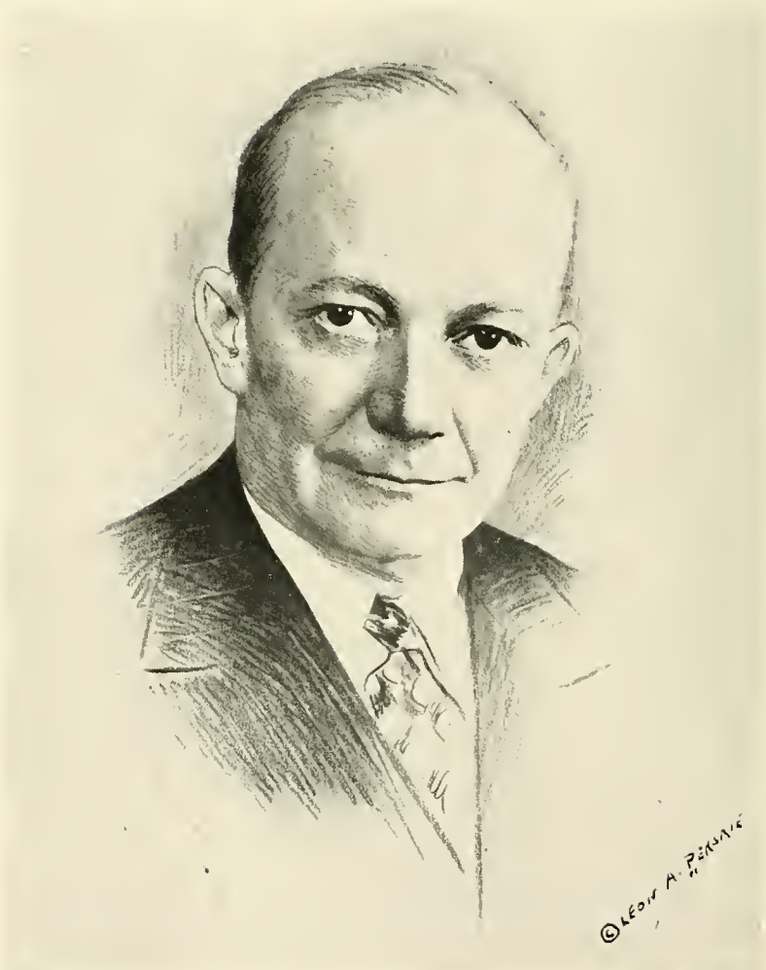
OF MARYLAND

WILLIAM PRESTON LANE, Jr.

Governor Lane was born in Hagerstown, Maryland, on May 12, 1892. He graduated from the University of Virginia in 1915 and was admitted to the bar in 1916.

He has been the Attorney-General of Maryland, delegate to the Democratic National Conventions, presidential elector from Maryland, a bank executive, and Democratic National Committeeman for Maryland.

In January, 1947, he took the oath of office as Governor of the State of Maryland.



IF

(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling)

By John H. Morse

If you can keep your nerve when all about you
I'm placing instruments you hate to see;
If you can grip yourself when I'm about to Bear down upon a nerve not tenderly;
If you can grin, and not bite when I'm grinding,
Or when you hear me snarl, don't try to speak—
Because my office girl I'm merely asking
To get another drill before next week.

If you can dream, but not of what I'm doing;
If you can think, and hold your thoughts in check,
If you can take a probe, or clean scraping,
And keep your luncheon down below your neck;
If you can bear to hear the bur's swift whirring,
As up and down a nerve I softly play,
And hold yourself without a muscle stirring,
And then come back again for more next day;

If you can let me grab the tooth that's aching;
Grasp tight the chair and never pitch or toss,
Nor cuss, nor faint, nor die, while I'm extracting,
And never groan a bit about your loss;
If you can force your jaw to open wider,
Your tongue to keep away when I'm at work,
And hold them there while I drill that incisor,
And never spoil my technique with a jerk;

If you keep still while I move each bicuspid
To places where I think they'd better be,
And tell you that you've been to stupid dentists
Whose work I'll rearrange for just my fee;
If you then pay the bill which I will send you
At once, nor murmur of an overcharge,
Yours is the world and everything that's in it,
Because you are the only one at large!

In Tribute

HARRY B. McCARTHY, B.S., M.A., D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Director of the Clinics

Born April 23, 1896, in Swanton, Vermont. Graduated from the University of Maryland Dental School, with honors, in 1923. In that year he became an instructor in Dental Anatomy and demonstrator in Clinical Dentistry. He was later appointed Professor of Clinical Operative Dentistry, and acquired his present position in 1947. He is a member of Psi Omega, president of the Supreme Chapter of Omicron Kappa Upsilon. He is a past president of the Maryland State Dental Association and of the Baltimore City Dental Society. In 1931, Dr. McCarthy was representative of the former organization at the International Dental Congress in Paris, and in 1947, he presented a paper before the Puerto Rican Dental Society and participated in its clinics. At present he is serving as Chairman of the Clinical Administration Section of the American Association of Dental Schools.

MYRON S. AISENBERG, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Professor of Pathology

Born October 30, 1899, in New Britain, Conn. Received his dental degree with honors from the University of Maryland in 1922, and has been associated with the faculty of this institution ever since. He is a member of the American Dental Association, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, Sigma Xi, the Gorgas Odontological Society, the Society of American Bacteriologists, and honorary member of the Pathology Section of the Baltimore City Medical Society. During his career he has been Council Representative of the International Association of Dental Research; Secretary, Vice-Chairman, and Chairman of the Research Section of the American Dental Association; and national president of Alpha Omega. Dr. Aisenberg is also a Founding Fellow of the American Academy of Oral Pathology.

GRAYSON W. GAVER, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Professor of Dental Prosthesis

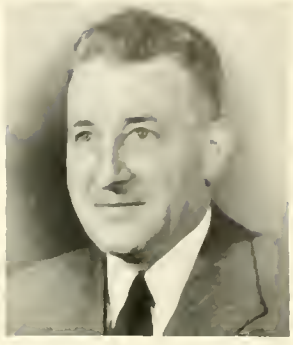
Born March 31, 1898, in Myersville, Maryland. Graduated from the University of Maryland Dental School, with honors, in 1922. In October of that year he began teaching in this school. He is a member of Psi Omega, Gorgas Odontological Society, and Omicron Kappa Upsilon, of which he is a past president. He is also a member of the American Dental Association, the Maryland State Dental Association, of which he is a past president, and of the National Board of Dental Examiners. During the war Dr. Gaver was Civilian Dental Consultant for the Third Service Command of the Army.

KATHARINE TOOMEY

Administrative Assistant

Born in Baltimore, Md. In 1917, she accepted temporarily a position as secretary to Dean Heatwole. She continued to enjoy her surroundings more and more, and so decided to remain on a permanent basis. At that time she was the only woman in the school. Her mornings were occupied with the Dean's office work; at noon she checked and ordered all supplies; and in the afternoon was responsible for the dispensing of clinic materials and the handling of fees. With the reorganization of the school, her duties were limited to those of secretary to the Dean. She soon became Executive Secretary, and in 1933 acquired the title of Administrative Assistant. Miss Toomey is an honorary member of Psi Omega and Treasurer of the Women of Psi Omega, and was Chairwoman of the Ladies' Committee of the Dental Centenary. She is a charter member of the Women's City Club of Baltimore, and a charter member and president of the Quota Club of Baltimore.

Quarter Century Group



GEORGE C. KARN, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Associate Professor of Oral Roentgenology

Born September 26, 1897, in Burkittsville, Maryland. Received his dental degree from the University of Maryland in 1923, when he began his career of teaching. Dr. Karn is a member of Psi Omega, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, and the Gorgas Odontological Society. He also holds membership in the American Dental Association, the Maryland State Dental Association, and the Baltimore City Dental Society.

NATHAN B. SCHERR, D.D.S

Associate Professor of Operative Dentistry

Born November 25, 1899, in Baltimore, Md. Graduated from the University of Maryland Dental School in 1922. Two years later he began teaching Pedodontia at his Alma Mater. Prior to 1949, Dr. Scherr was also an instructor in Operative Technics and Dentistry. He is a member of Alpha Omega, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, and the Gorgas Odontological Society, of which he is a past president. He also holds membership in the American Dental Association, the Maryland State Dental Association, and the Baltimore City Dental Society.

B. SARGENT WELLS, D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Assistant Professor of Fixed Partial Prosthesis

Born July 24, 1892, in Keyser, West Virginia. Graduated from the University of Maryland Dental School in 1914; started teaching in 1915; and later became head of the Prosthetic Clinic. He was the first instructor in Roentgenology in this school, and served in that capacity from 1918 to 1920. He was also the school's first Biology instructor. In 1930, he became an instructor in the Crown and Bridge Department. He is a member of Psi Omega, Gorgas Odontological Society (of which he was the first Secretary), Omicron Kappa Upsilon, of which he is a past president. He is also a member of the American Dental Association, the Maryland State Dental Association, of which he is now president, and of the Baltimore City Dental Society, of which he is a past president. Dr. Wells is, moreover, a past president of the National Alumni Association of the School.

MARY C. REED

Accountant for the Clinics

Born in Baltimore, Md. Came to the University of Maryland Dental School in 1924 to serve as Supply Clerk of the Clinic. In this position, she dispensed materials and handled funds for all the clinics. Her ability is borne out by the fact that the fees received through all departments are still cleared through her and that all restorative materials for these departments are ordered by her. The efficiency and neatness with which she conducts her office have been highly commended on many occasions by the state auditors. Mrs. Reed is also admired for her cultural background, particularly for her musical and linguistic inclinations.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

As we raise sails before the wind, exhausted, somber, but serene, our Odyssey slowly nears its end. The swallows meeting our ship announce that soon our eyes will rest upon the longed-for shores of Ithaca, Calypso, Circe, Lotophagi, Polyphemus . . . a fearful tetralogy which only a stout determination to survive, a patient wait, a glorious hope, could vanquish.

But looking back on four years' work, the hardships met are but sweet memories which live forever in our souls. They bring us joy and gladness, assurance, faith; a feeling of composure earnestly won.

Though we know too well our shortcomings, and how wide and fathomless the ocean of experience is, we wish to answer our conscience when it calls thus: "Now seek the strength to use which thou hast spent in getting."

We feel that our efforts have not been in vain, for our goal is noble. And on the eve of achievement, when we stop for a moment and look back, in retrospect, on the unending hours of redundant work, the anxiety spent in expectation of a passing grade, the dreariness of doing things over without achieving the proposed ideal, we are glad that they are over. But we are conscious that these austere experiences were necessary to make us worthy of our profession and prepare us for the services that our fellow citizens expect from us.

Our class has been unique in all its phases. It has not been exceptional; rather, it has been looked at by some as an unwanted stepchild. But circumstances have made it a "class of firsts," in which anything might be expected to happen.

As a group this class may be considered outspoken, independent, daring, uninhibited and cheerful. Always ready to laugh, the seriousness of formal lectures never concealed a humorous connection, and jokes were received as manna from the heavens.

Being a small class was our greatest privilege, for it multiplied the occasions of personal contacts with those who taught us, bringing us closer.

Our highest appreciation goes to those who with their zeal and fervor led us through the intricate paths of knowledge, who inspired us with their wisdom and devotion, who encouraged and helped us in developing our potentialities.

On accepting our responsibilities to society, we realize fully that we are but neophytes who will continue with unfaltering ardor in the task of mastering our profession. To its glory, and to the betterment of our communities, may we dedicate our lives.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Jovial shouts and lusty greetings were sounded as summer "beavers" and vacationists met on registration day. Gowns were issued, rubber dams applied, patients assigned, and the clinic wheels began to turn. To an outsider this procedure would have seemed merely routine, but to us each step led into the unknown. The white clinic gowns tranformed us to the heights of bliss, while the first pulp exposure carried us to the depths of despair. Everyone looked confident and professional on the clinic floor, but closer examination would have revealed beads of perspiration and shaking limbs.

The one-day-a-week academic classes were a "snap," and we discarded the "midnight oil" so frequently burned during our first two years; but the bombshell of examinations repeatedly exploded in our midst and the books were hastily withdrawn from the shelves.

An increased volume of gas hung over the clinic floor this year, but with the able assistance of Dr. Randolph and Company we managed to stay out of the stratosphere. The instructiveness and patience exhibited by the Gaver-Nuttall "combine" made the downstairs clinic a pleasant place to work.

Class elections, the annual School Mixer, and fraternity rushing dotted the first three months. A new extracurricular organization—"The Research Study Group"—joined the Gorgas Society and the Gaver Seminar.

The three-year jaunt to the top floor ended with the close of the first trimester. The long hours of laboratory work in oral pathology, plus the excellent view of the nurses" home, were willed to the incoming class.

The new year held many surprises for us in the way of examinations, new subjects, local anesthetic injections, x-ray and extraction techniques, and the ever-present clinic floor. We look back with pride and forward with anticipation as the senior year becomes a reality. To each of the seniors we offer our thanks for their help and our best wishes for a long and successful practice.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Fortified by a green light from the Vanden Bosche, Hahn, McCrea triumvirate, the members of the class of '51 descended upon the northwest corner of Lombard and Greene with more constitutional spirit and animation than a Tatum-tutored terrapin.

And why not? There were things to be done: apartments to rent, freshmen to gas, mezzanine lockers to secure, dental mirrors to display, and bite blocks to set up.

A quick roll-call disclosed that more of the old faces were missing, and on the first school night members of the class gathered in small groups throughout the city to toast those whose quixotic apparition is now but a memory.

Such evenings of relaxation and mirth were soon to come to a screeching halt. By Christmas we were submerged so deeply beneath a pile of pathogenic bacteria that "all of Dobbs' serums and all of Dobbs' drugs, couldn't help us one bit to get rid of the bugs." We had our troubles in technic too. The transition from the Boley gauge to the dental gauge was finally accomplished, and it was comforting to realize that the manikins couldn't talk (or bite) back. Pathology and Physiology made their appearance with the new year, and it was gratifying that the texts were less cumbersome to carry than Shay's green bible.

Barry, Blondet, Clower, Fidler, Fontanella, Inouye, Moran, Pleet, Reed and Ridinger made the fatal mistake and took unto themselves spouses. A contingent of the most hearty decided to gamble one more time and joined the ROTC, while the boys in the back room offered three to one the Navy would sail in with a better deal.

But most important of all, as the year progressed each of us became more and more aware of the task assumed. Dentistry no longer was giving the impression of being a bed of roses. As the year progressed, the class still laughed and played, but this dissembling outwardness in no way expressed the deep craving of each member of the class to do his daily best. Thus, the Sophomore, like the five-legged Shmoo, has "two behind him and two in front." The past two years have been enjoyable and fruitful, but our interest is now focused on the Junior year ahead.

The Journal was established in 1936 to bring about a closer relationship among the alumni, faculty, and students, which is essential for the propagation of the ideals of dentistry. It affords alumni as well as students opportunity to publish any new material about which they may have developed new theories or technics.

An annual feature of the Journal is the publication of an abridgement of the preceding year's prize-winning thesis. All alumni of this Dental School receive the periodical and thereby acquaint themselves with the various activities of their alma mater.

The Journal has published and will continue to publish items from literature concerning dentists and dentistry, selected from the collection made by the Department of Dental History and Dental Literature.

The Student Activities Council was organized in 1936 in fulfillment of a desire manifested by the students for an organization that would closely associate the School's extracurricular activities. As a result of suggestions made to the Council by the classes through their representatives, the Council has, in its several years of existence, brought about many worthwhile improvements in the general conduct of student affairs at the School. Each year the Council co-sponsors the social functions of the various classes; it also plays an active part in the support of the School's publications. The Council has been most successful in bringing about a closer student-faculty relationship.

The Gorgas Odontological Society was founded in 1916 as an honorary student dental society on principles of scholastic ability, character, and professional bearing. The organization is named after Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas, a pioneer in dental education, a teacher of many years' experience, and during his life a great contributor to dental literature. It was with the idea of perpetuating his name that the Society adopted it.

At first the organization was somewhat gangling, and unprepossessive; but gradually the young Society began to formulate more definitive rules and more exacting requirements. As of 1945, requirements for entrance into the Society were made quite stringent so that today membership is limited to no more than thirty per cent of the junior class.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council was organized in February of 1944 for the purpose of coordinating fraternity affairs. The Council controls under constitutional laws the rushing of new men and the fraternity affairs that involve all fraternities.

This legislative body is composed of three members from each of the fraternities, whose responsibility it is to serve the best interests of both the school and each member fraternity. Through this representation, each fraternal organization may adequately present any fraternity problem before the Council, and by means of a round-table discussion with members of the other fraternities, these problems can be solved.

Since its founding, the Council has been an important factor in promoting the good will and fraternalism present in all student relations.

R. O. T. C.

The Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland, established an Army officer-training unit under the Reserve Officers Training Corps program in September, 1948. Over sixty students indicated their interest in the R. O. T. C., but an enrollment quota was set at thirty-eight members. The quota was quickly filled by thirty-eight veterans who sought places on the roster of the unit.

The course of instruction is based on one hour of training for a period of thirty-two weeks, and six weeks' attendance at the Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, during the summer.

The unit is under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Frederick H. Richardson, D. C. A graduate of Kansas City-Western Dental School, he practiced for several years before enlisting in the Army Dental Corps in 1937. His war record is of unusual interest. He spent sixty-eight months in overseas service. Captured at Corregidor, he was held prisoner by the Japanese for three and one-half years. After a long period of hospitalization, following his liberation on September 6, 1945, Colonel Richardson was assigned to Hamilton Field in California, where he served for two years prior to his coming to Baltimore.

SCENE I (September of Junior Year).

STUDENT (eagerly): "I'll be glad to make this full upper and lower for you, Mrs. Smith.

SCENE II (September of Senior Year)

STUDENT (cautiously): Yes, I remember your wife, Mr. Smith. I'll be glad to make you a full upper denture.

SCENE III (May of Senior Year)

STUDENT (dejectedly): I'm sorry you're having trouble with that denture, Mrs. Smith. Can you come in the 15th of June at 2:00?

SCENE IV (June 15 at 5:30)

DR. GAVER (angrily): But Mrs. Smith, I've been telling you for three hours, the student has graduated and is back in Tennessee. If you come back in September, I'll try to find a Junior for you.

TECHNIC TIPS

1. To establish contact between the cuspid and bicuspid, insert separator between molar and bicuspid until MO amalgam on the first bicuspid is checked off.
2. Invest wax pattern in powdered chalk to get a polished, well-fitting casting.
3. To perform simple gingivectomy around Cl. V restorations, use steel lightning strips, Black's finishing knives, or pumice on a wire brush.
4. To get practice in alveolectomies, just extract quickly and rotate buccally without seeing what you're doing.

WE REMEMBER - - -

The Patient Who Said:

— I just want my teeth cleaned.

— You've been drilling for three hours; why don't you pull the tooth out?

— All I care about is the white fillings in my front teeth.

— It can't be a cavity; I had sodium fluoride treatments last year.

— I can come in any time, only Saturdays.

— Why are you holding your hand up so long?

— Do blue collars mean that they are instructors?

— Is he an instructor? He looks so young.

— Can you take me Saturday?

— I don't want gold in my front teeth.

The Instructor Who Said:

— Who checked the preparation?

— Take another pattern? I would.

— Say, did I tell you I got a new car?

— I realize she's a difficult patient to work on, but . . .

— When is she coming in again?

— When are you going to polish it?

— Do you know you have a patient waiting outside?

— When are you coming to work in my section?

— I can't catch it or see it, but I have a feeling that it's shy.

— I can't check the prophy; there is blood there.

— Do you need a good inlay patient?

— You're a senior—you should know what to do.

— Why are you way out here in the clinic's left field?

— We'll have a little quiz next week.

— You might be here for intramural estivation.

— Don't move the slide or the pointer.

— Clean up the dissection.

— Use only two drops of the indicator this time.

— That tooth is 0.5 mm. too small; try carving another one.

— Those pictures are elongated, doctor.

Acknowledgments

Realizing that the completion of this edition of the MIRROR would never have been accomplished without the help of those unheralded people who kept the wheels rolling, the editor wishes to extend sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the following:

Mr. G. P. Foley, faculty advisor, for his guiding hand, and for his never-ending patience and time which perpetuate the MIRROR from year to year.

Vi Diefenbach, for his invaluable and constant assistance, his ideas, and almost all the photography including the processing which consumed many of his clinic and home hours.

Bob Jernick, who congenially contributed his unequaled talent to produce the superb art and cartoon work.

John Clemson, who adeptly handled the majority of the business matters.

George Spiegel, Roy Durocher, Pete Hernandez, John Parent, and Clem Hahn, for their efforts, suggestions, and cooperation.

Mr. Love and Mr. Hicks, for their interest, workmanship, and passive resistance to delays.

Miss Muhl, Miss Ezekiel, Miss Cross, and Miss Herbert, for their aid.

Those students on the staff and those students and persons not on the staff, for being more than willing and helpful in times of need.

It is extremely difficult to record in cold type the vital, moving forces that make up a year or years. However, the success of a yearbook stems not so much from what it exhibits in content, but from the spirit contained therein. If this MIRROR of 1949 reflects some of the spirit of pleasant bygone days and past friendships, then it will have served its purpose.

Columbia Rubber Model Formers

Make Neat Bases on Your Study Models

POUR plaster or stone into Model Former, mount anatomical cast and let set. The soft flexible rubber permits easy removal of model, which comes out with a perfectly smooth, symmetrical and finished base.

Upper and lower models can be made in these formers to occlude automatically!

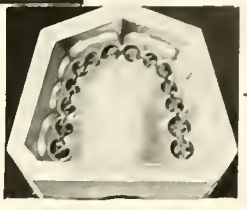
Price per set, 1 Upper and 1 Lower

No. R1—Large Size	$3.50
No. R2—Medium Size	3.50
No. R3—Small Size	3.00

Study models show patients their mouths as you see them. Make study models regularly. You need them as you do X-Rays.

MAKE Demonstration MODELS from SURPLUS PLASTER

with COLUMBIA RUBBER DENTOFORM MOLDS



Better than sketches to explain cases to patients

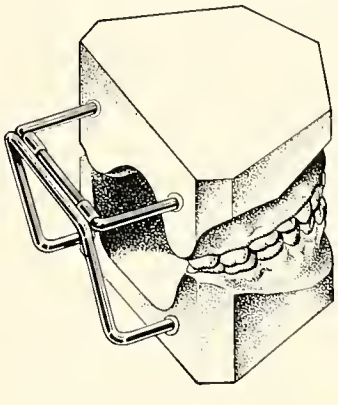
Instead of wasting surplus plaster pour it into the Mold. If not enough, add the next excess mix, first wetting the set plaster.

To make Models with Ivorine abutments, insert Ivorine Teeth into Mold before pouring.

Sets of Upper and Lower Molds Now Available

No. R20—A set without 3rd molars.	$5.00
No. R22—A set with 3rd molars	5.00
No. R24—A set for deciduous models	5.00
Ivorine Teeth, each	.50

ARTICULATE



Your Study Models

The Columbia Study Model Articulator is of sturdy construction, being made of ⅛ inch diameter nickel-silver rod.

To mount models, drill the four holes (template and drill supplied) and attach prongs with sticky wax. To remove articulator from cast, merely heat prongs and withdraw. Casts remain unmarred.

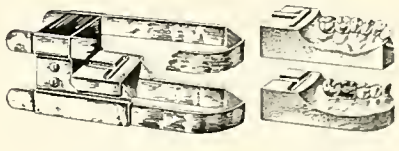
These articulators can be used repeatedly.

PRICES

Cat. No. 805—Four Columbia Study Model Articulators with Template and Drill	$3.00
Cat. No. 806—Additional Articulators, each	.60

Columbia ARTICULATOR FORMER

for INLAY DIES



A Time Saver — Easy to Use

Makes Neat Models

A simple device for casting neat, self-articulating half-jaw stone or plaster models for inlays, crowns and bridges . . . The sliding frames are adjustable to make models of any required length. . . . Models of right or left side can be made by reversing position of frames . . . The T-lock, cast in heel of upper and lower models, keeps them in correct centric relation . . . The frames, T-lock former and metal parts attached to Bakelite block are made of rustless steel.
